When Dahlgren's iron-class began operations in Charleston Harbor the operations in Charleston Harbor the Tenth Army Corps made a sudden dash and drove in the thin lines of pickets which the rebush hai p + d in the eastern end of Morris is when daylight came every gun which Beauregard could bring to bear upon the new work began to rain shot and shell, and from daylight until moon there. from daylight until noon there were lively times in and about Charleston Bay. Shortly after noon Fort Samter opened furiously, and it was fear-d that an attempt was about to be made by the enemy to advance. There were mough men there, it was thought, to hold it, but there was a deficiency of ammunition, and so a mule driver vol-intecred to deliver the ammunition. The only road was the smooth and sandy beach along the bay, and the distance between the two points about a mile and a half. Half that distance was within easy range of Fort Sumter, and Battery Wagner's guns covered all the way to the sand hills, behind which was the Federal camp.

1 am describing this incident as it appeared from the shipping in the bay, and what called attention to it was the sudden waking up of every gun on the southeast angle of Sumter. Looking to see the cause of the furious cannonading, everybody was surprised to see a mule team tearing up the beach in the direction of the new work. The driver was laying the lash on, and that mule had its ears laid straight back and was making its legs go. Occasionally a shell would touch the beach, bound up and explode, and the mule would then hesitate and try to turn back. But the driver would lay the cowhide on with renewed vigor; then the mule put on another sport, until at last it became entirely demoralized by the explosion of a ten both shell almost under its belly. at the spectacle. The driver got off whilried it around once or twice and started it up the beach once more. Fort Sumter flashed and flamed, Battery Wagner belehed and thundered, and still the during driver urged his mule along, though the way was swept by at children, and yet so scarching at children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great cocrup-tions of the blood, such as the serial alous and syphilitie contamination. Impurities or disease that have broked in the system for years soon yield to this powerful audione, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Secretials, and all secretions discress Urous scrofulous diseases, Uteers, Eruptions, and cruptive disorders of the skin, Tuntors, Blotches, Boits, Pimples, Pustales, Sores, St. Anthony's Five, Rose or Ery-slpeins, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and in-ternal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver, It also cause other complaints, to which it would not scent especially adapted, such as Drop-sy, Dyspepsin, Pits, Neuralgin, Heart Disease, Female Weak-Ecuptions, and graptive disorders a sy. Dyspepsin, Fits, Neuralgin, Heart Disease, Fernale Weak-ness, Debility, and Leurenrihen, when they are manifestations of the scralebus poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the deprussion and listlest imagener of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live larger, for clean-lag the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new leave of life.
